The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Stuban, indicates he will stand for interrogation. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Davies, is in order and may proceed.

Mr. DAVIES. Mr. Speaker, is the question relative to the potential purchase of lines that have been abandoned addressed so that it would satisfy either the future needs of county governments or municipal governments as far as their ability to buy into those lines, which, as I understand the interpretation by the department, is they do not have that power now, or under the current Federal law, they do not have that authority now?

Mr. STUBAN. Mr. Speaker, I believe the intention of the resolution is to bring to the forefront the problem that is taking place out there, asking Congress and the Department of Transportation to make a study of it and resolve that problem. I think that is what is happening, Mr. Speaker, and we are trying to call attention to everybody involved to have it done.

Mr. DAVIES. All right. Then you feel that by just calling for the study rather than making a direct inference that this is in need of Federal legislation and should be a strong recommendation for the future development or potential development of all of the Commonwealth as far as the needs for industrial sites and so forth and so on in various communities, is it your intent to either express that to Congress separately before their study or just hope that they do make that part of the study?

Mr. STUBAN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that this will be brought to their attention. What has happened here is we have in the Northeast a delegation that is meeting in both the House and the Senate, addressing this problem at the present time, and I feel that there has been so much industrial development money that has been spent out there in the field and Conrail is not taking this into consideration when they look at these abandonments, and I believe that a study must be made.

If I could divert away from the resolution, we in the future in both the House and the Senate will be addressing this situation with a complete package of bills that we have now circulating here on the floor for signatures and over in the Senate on the floor for signatures.

Mr. DAVIES. All right.

If I might, Mr. Speaker, just make a comment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman, and he may make a statement on the resolution.

Mr. DAVIES. Many of you have gone through the problem of picking up abandoned lines and trying to get various carriers to participate in that process. We have experienced it in Berks County as well, and my only concern is that when we do address this by resolution, that we do take that into consideration and that we some way or other make that expression to Congress, because I think it is a vital part of something that now is not accepted in the application by PennDOT. If we cannot address it by legislation, we will have to go back and make it more emphatic by resolution. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

On the question recurring,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED CONTINUED

Mr. MAYERNIK called up HR 52, PN 588, entitled:

Memorializing Congress to enact the Federal General Revenue Sharing Program for the 1983-1984 year.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Davies.

Mr. DAVIES. I only have one comment to the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman. He may make his comment on the resolution.

Mr. DAVIES. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

My concern that I expressed in committee and that I would have to express before we take action on this is that there is one concern and that is that in supporting this we understand that as best we can do to fine-tune this we do not expect to have any duplication or try to have something where there is a duplication of effort through these community grants and this particular program as opposed to those now who may be better expedited by some of the block grant money that is going to be flowing through the control of State Government to some degree. I think that we are going to have to take a very careful look at that from time to time as a body and that we diligently do so so that we do not get into the position of having duplicity. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Mayernik.

Mr. MAYERNIK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

HR 52 memorializes Congress to enact a proposed 3-year $4.6-billion Federal revenue-sharing program. Local governments in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the fiscal year 1980-81 received in excess of $234 million, and in fiscal year 1981-82 in excess of $221 million. General revenue sharing accounts for approximately 14 percent of local governments' budgets. It has provided over the past decade the very lifeblood of many local governments.

Since many local governments are suffering from increasing financial stress and are at or near their statutory taxation limits, I feel that it is imperative that the Federal Government moves as expeditiously as possible for the enactment of this desperately needed program. I respectfully request the affirmative vote for HR 52. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. HALUSKA called up HR 25, PN 245, entitled:

The General Assembly of Pennsylvania opposes any modifications to the Federal Clean Air Act until such modifications are supported by sound medical and scientific evidence.

On the question,
Will the House adopt the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a few remarks on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is in order and may proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. Speaker, we are asking you today to support this resolution that opposes any modification to the Federal Clean Air Act until such modification is supported by sound medical and scientific evidence. Such evidence would also provide specific detailed data that would identify both the natural as well as the manmade factors that may be the primary cause of acid rain. It would also provide the time to plan a long-range remedial program to deal with this complex problem if the research is so indicated.

As presently structured, the Clean Air Act amendment of 1977 is complex, confusing, and unbalanced. The regulations have resulted in duplicative procedures and requirements which are unnecessary to the attainment of environmental objectives, particularly those relating to the protection of the public from adverse health effects. These environmental objectives offer little or no consideration for economics or energy cost. These unnecessary requirements have discouraged the expanded use of coal and general economic growth.

The EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) administrator, Douglas Costle, conceded last April that there is still a lot we do not understand about acid rain, but EPA was still determined to move ahead with further regulations.

Our Clean Air Act is the toughest in the world. We have spent more money on pollution control than any other nation in the world.

The Nation's coal association says it is difficult to find a direct link between increased burning of coal and the higher rainfall acidity, because little if any more sulfur from coal is being placed into the atmosphere now than in the late 1940's, since there is now greater use of low-sulfur coal and scrubbers are being used in the powerplants.

It is highly probable that the U.S. Congress will soon pass additional unwise and expensive legislation on the subject of acid rain, thereby costing the American people an additional few hundred billion dollars.

It is true that sulfur and nitrogen acids produced by the burning of coal and oil do form acids which come back to the Earth with the rain. However, it is also true that an undetermined amount of acid in the rain comes from natural sources, such as volcanoes, action of ultraviolet light on nitrogen in the atmosphere, ocean spray, windblown soil particles, and decaying vegetation, such as leaves that produce large amounts of tannic acid as well as other organic acids. On a global basis, these are probably twice as great as manmade emissions. Lightning storms alone are thought by some investigators to contribute as much as 50 percent of the total nitrogen oxide atmospheric burden, far more than comes from man's activities.

If Congress passes a law decreeing that all powerplants and automobiles must scrub out their acids and sulfur and nitrogen, it may discover that those acid lakes will still be just about as acid as they ever were. What Congress needs to do is to make haste slowly, while the scientist learns more about what goes on in the atmosphere, nature's contribution, and the geological factors associated with acid rain.

A Tennessee Valley Authority scientist points out that the sulfur dioxide abatement plan will cause a $300-million crop loss in the Tennessee Valley unless steps are taken to incorporate additional sulfur compounds into the fertilizer.

Higher levels of rainfall acidity are being found in quite unexpected areas. The lower Mississippi Valley has experienced a rise in rainfall acidity that cannot be linked with the burning of fossil fuels because the predominant winds come off the Gulf of Mexico. Colorado also has highly acidic rain though the prevailing winds come in over uninhabited areas that are devoid of powerplants. Even the island of Samoa reports high levels of rainfall acidity.

A study by Connecticut's Acid Rain Task Force concluded that acid lakes in that State are a consequence of surrounding soil, not acid precipitation. The 17-page report minimizes the harmful effects of acid rain in Connecticut lakes, streams, and forests and is based on the most extensive lake and soil research effort in the country, according to Dr. Charles F. Frink, cochairman of the task force.

The study suggests that acid precipitation may not have much impact on lakes, fish, and vegetation. It indicates that airborne carbonic, sulfuric, and nitric acid cannot be traced reliably to specific industrial sources and that lakes in Connecticut have been acidified by surrounding soil, not by acid rain.

The task force found that no detectable damage to soil, lakes, fish, or crops can be traced to acid rain. Frink said some lakes in the Adirondack Mountains in New York have become acidified, but by natural soil processes, not by acid rain.

The group recommended improved monitoring of rain, rivers, streams, and lakes and suggested that methods of measuring acid particles in the air be upgraded and transport models developed to predict movement of the air pollution.

Dr. W. T. Pecorra stated that man is a polluter but by no means the biggest one, because by comparison, nature makes him look like Mr. Clean.

Dr. Pecorra was the former director of the U.S. Geological Survey, and he once said, "Those individuals who speak about restoring our inherited environment of air, rivers, rain and coastlines to the purity that existed at day 1, never had a course in geology."

I ask your support of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Michlovic.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Mr. Speaker, would the sponsor of the resolution please stand for interrogation?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman, Mr. Haluska, indicates he will so stand. The gentleman, Mr. Michlovic, is in order and may proceed.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Mr. Speaker, in light of the clause in the resolution, the resolve clause which says that the General Assembly would oppose any modification to the Clean Air Act which would impose more stringent modifications, more stringent sulfur dioxide emissions limits, to alleviate the acid rain problem until this problem has been totally examined, how much information is necessary, in your opinion, before we totally examine the problem? When does this resolution, in other words, terminate?

Mr. HALUSKA. This resolution would terminate once the scientists have specifically determined the cause of acid rain. To this date they have not. They have admitted wholeheartedly that they do not have the answer to acid rain. They are all speculating that it is all coming from this one source, and there is sufficient evidence to indicate that there are other sources contributing as much, if not more, acid rain.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. By passing this resolution, are we limiting those other sources? In other words, are we favoring coal over other energy sources?

Mr. HALUSKA. No, I do not think we are favoring coal over any other energy source. I do not think we are favoring coal in any particular way. I think we are going off on a tangent, and we are really destroying a source of energy that we have that is so vital to the economy of this Nation. Until we get such facts as can verify and specifically pinpoint what we are trying to do, I do not think we should impose any further regulatory procedures on acid rain.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Is it possible that if Congress agrees with this resolution, should it be passed, that we will in effect be penalizing some of our other industries that maybe do not use coal?

Mr. HALUSKA. I do not see where we would be penalizing them in any way, shape, or form.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Mr. Speaker, the reference you made to the Connecticut task force that studied the problem, who commissioned that task force and who paid for it?

Mr. HALUSKA. As I understand, it was commissioned by the State of Connecticut.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. And the State of Connecticut paid for it?

Mr. HALUSKA. That is what I understand; yes.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Okay.

Do you have any knowledge of the specific formulas of the various air bases in Pennsylvania that are supposed to apply to the regions?

Mr. HALUSKA. Are you talking about monitoring procedures?

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Pardon?

Mr. HALUSKA. Are you speaking of monitoring the acidity of the rainfall?

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Yes.

Mr. HALUSKA. Well, I have talked to research people who claim that they are far behind. I mean, it is just in the last few years that they are really starting to monitor. For instance, the bituminous coal research people in Monroeville just within the last couple of years have set up 25 different monitoring stations throughout Allegheny County to try to make determinations. Speaking to them, there is such a variance in the monitoring at these particular stations that they cannot place any specifics on what is transpiring. That is why they claim that more detailed information and more sophisticated monitoring stations should be established in order to really determine what is going on.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Do you not think that we might be better off to wait for that more specific information before we take a position on the issue? If the issue has not been determined yet, why should we rush into opposing the Clean Air Act and modifications on acid rain problems?

Mr. HALUSKA. We are not opposing the Clean Air Act; we are asking that they not impose any further regulatory procedures on acid rain until further study is made. We are not saying to do away with what we have. We are saying hold what we have until we get specific details to further clarify the situation.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman and ask to comment.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Michlovic, for purposes of making a statement on the resolution.

Mr. MICHLOVIC. Mr. Speaker, I ask the House to reject HR 25. I do not think we ought to go on record as opposing modifications to the Clean Air Act one way or another. I think that we in this House recorded a number of times our dissatisfaction on the emissions control issue. I do not know how this resolution might affect the will of the House on that matter. We have sent several resolutions to Congress on the emissions control problem. Now we are asking them not to modify in any way the Clean Air Act. I do not know if that modification applies to weakening it or just the strengthening or not.

I also think that the acid rain problem is serious enough in this State and in other States. It is a multi-State, an international problem, and we ought not to go on record as opposing a solution to that problem. I think the coal byproducts, the pollutants, the sulfur dioxides, in the air are part of that problem at the very least, and I would ask your opposition to the resolution. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Gallen, on the resolution.

Mr. GALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take you back to a moment in Pennsylvania history. Mr. Speaker, I think this will be of interest. The date is August 29, 1967, when a young, bright, up-and-coming legislator by the name of K. Leroy Irvis from Allegheny County, a young, slim, trim legislator with black hair and with great promise, was the chief sponsor of a resolution which was introduced by Representative Jim Clarke of Allegheny County. I would like to read that resolution, Mr. Speaker. It says:

WHEREAS, The Pennsylvania House of Representatives, in true Quaker State fashion, has given of its advice generously and lavishly to Congress in many resolutions memorializing Congress; and

WHEREAS, To further the principle of a dual system of government and separation of State and Federal systems, we have told Congress on many occasions what it should do about its affairs; and

WHEREAS, Congress has, so far as is known, never memorialized us and has maintained an aloof and detached position with respect to the Pennsylvania Legislature, and studiously ignored us; now therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives memorialize Congress to memorialize us once in awhile instead of superciliously sitting around Washington and letting us do all the memorializing; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be dispatched to Congress by collect wire.

I thought in view of the fact that we have been memorializing Congress seemingly day after day, I thought it might be good to inject this little bit of Pennsylvania history and to give credit to our present Speaker, who seems to have lost some of that promise, and to give him credit for this resolution. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman and informs the gentleman that the Speaker may have lost some of the promise but he has gained a few pounds since he had that resolution introduced. The Speaker, however, has been convinced over the years that no matter what we memorialize Congress to do, it will ignore us anyway, and if the House really wishes to exercise itself in futility, probably the most futile of all our gestures is memorializing Congress. That is an unofficial opinion.

MOTION TO TABLE

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Saloom.

Mr. SALOOM. Mr. Speaker, just a couple of weeks ago we passed a bill in this House to have auto emissions in Pennsylvania. Just a breath ago we passed a House resolution to study waterborne pollutants. Now we are faced with memorializing Congress and going on record as the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to strenuously oppose any modifications in the Clean Air Act that would impose stringent sulfur dioxide emissions into our air.

We have not had any time in this House or in this chamber other than the past few minutes to review this resolution, and we do not know what type of impact it might have on clean air. So I therefore ask that this resolution be tabled for further study, because I wish not to vote against any member's resolution, and I would ask that it be tabled to a future date.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

It has been moved by the gentleman, Mr. Saloom, that HR 25, PN 245, be laid upon the table.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Davies, rise?

Mr. DAVIES. A parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state the parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DAVIES. If I would want to place additional questions relative to the resolution to the maker of the resolution, that would be inappropriate at this time and I would hold that until after this vote? Is that correct?

The SPEAKER. If the Assembly votes to place this resolution on the table, then you would be out of order to interrogate the maker of the resolution. If you wish to interrogate, you may request the maker of the motion to withdraw his motion temporarily so that you may direct questions to the maker of the resolution. If the maker of the motion agrees, then you would be in order to interrogate Mr. Haluska.

Mr. DAVIES. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. On that advice, I will hold the interrogation until after this consideration.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Saloom.

Mr. SALOOM. Mr. Speaker, at this time I wish to withdraw my motion to table.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

RESOLUTION PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the majority leader.

Mr. MANDERINO. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman, Mr. Haluska, has consented that this matter be held over for study, and if the Speaker will, I would ask that we pass over this resolution at this time so that it can be studied rather than put it on the table where it would have to be retrieved.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

The Speaker rescinds its position that the question recurs, will the House adopt the resolution?

It has been requested by the majority leader that HR 25, PN 245, be passed over for today. Unless the Chair hears objection, the resolution will be so passed over, and the Chair hears no objection.
