SESSION OF 2009 193RD OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

No. 34

SENATE

MONDAY, June 1, 2009

The Senate met at 1 p.m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor Joseph B. Scarnati III) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend LORINA MARSHALL-BLAKE, of Vine Memorial Baptist Church, Philadelphia, offered the following prayer:

Dear most gracious and Heavenly Father, we come at this time, first, just giving You all the honor, all the glory, and all the praise that You are so worthy of. And God, we thank You for this day, this day that You have made, that we are just rejoicing and glad to be in. And Lord, we thank You for this opportunity to come before You with this august body. And Lord, as we stand, we join our hearts, O God, touching one another, O God, that we would be able to touch the people whom we serve, O Lord, and that You would dispose of us who are assembled to always be thankful, Lord, for the mercies that You continue to extend to us. Lord, to act as becomes a people who owe so much to Thy goodness, and Lord, again we come praying for the body, and praying for the nation, and praying for our President, Lord, but especially, God, praying for this Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We would ask, Lord, that You would direct them by their wisdom in all their deliberations. And God, give them, this day, peace within themselves, You, the God of peace, and Lord, You, the God of love, power, and justice, You who wills the freedom and fulfillment of all Your children. Yes, we come thanking You for the constancy of Your loving kindness and tender mercies toward us. And again, especially on this day that You have made, that we are truly thankful for one more opportunity to serve You and Your people. And Lord, at this time, we also seek to celebrate and acknowledge all of these, Your servant leaders.

And God, we would ask that You continue to surprise us with the discovery of how much power we have, both individually and collectively, to make a difference. Yes, a difference in the way citizens meet, greet, respect, and protect the rights of others. Yes, a difference in the way government, business, and labor can work together for justice and social enrichment. And yes, a difference in our response to the needy as a difference in our appreciation for those who give of themselves. And God, in the newness of the day, please help us to have a renewed hope, and stir up our passion for new possibilities, making compassion and the spirit of sacrifice be the mark of affluence of character.

And then finally, Lord, this blessing, as the Franciscan said:

May God bless you with a restless discomfort about easy answers, half-truths and superficial relationships, so that you may seek truth boldly and love deep within your heart.

May God bless you with holy anger at injustice, oppression, and exploitation of people, so that you may tirelessly work for justice, freedom, and peace among all people.

May God bless you with the gift of tears to shed with those who suffer from pain, rejection, starvation, or the loss of all that they cherish, so that you may reach out your hand to comfort them and transform their pain into joy.

May God bless you with enough foolishness to believe that you really can make a difference in this world, so that you are able, with God's grace, to do what others claim cannot be done.

And it is this we ask this day, O God, in Your precious Son's name. Let all the people of God say Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thanks the Reverend Marshall-Blake, who is the guest today of Senator Washington.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

(The Pledge of Allegiance was recited by those assembled.)

AS AMENDED OVER IN ORDER

SB 81 -- Without objection, the bill was passed over in its order at the request of Senator PILEGGI.

BILLS ON THIRD CONSIDERATION AND FINAL PASSAGE

SB 101 (Pr. No. 178) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act amending Title 65 (Public Officers) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, further providing for a penalty.

Considered the third time and agreed to,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Smucker.

Senator SMUCKER. Mr. President, although many Pennsylvanians are understandably focused on economic difficulties and tax and spending matters, they still want to see action on reform. This bill provides a reform step that is simple, effective, and long overdue. The penalty section is the notorious weak point in the fairly good Sunshine Law. The penalties have not changed since the current law was approved in 1986.

Why do we need to change this? Number one, a Lancaster County grand jury, convened to review wrongdoing that arose from months of secret meetings, strongly recommended strengthened penalties. Two, a councilman in a major city confronted with the discovery of a secret meeting responded, I do not care about the Sunshine Law, I do not know who cares about the Sunshine Law, and I am not sure whether it was broken or not. Those are the sorts of situations that people really want us to respond to and remedy.

Insufficient penalties undermine the public interest in two critical ways. They do not deter decisionmakers from erring on the side of secrecy, and they do not justify enforcement efforts by officials who have a lot of other crimes to chase after. A Sunshine Law has to depend on a good-faith compliance. It is impossible to police the thousands of jurisdictions to which it applies or to monitor the tens of thousands of meetings held.

Stronger penalties will make officials more careful about complying with open meeting requirements. It might make them less inclined to have the solicitor concoct strained interpretations to okay private meetings. And stronger penalties should provide incentives to prosecute the blatant violations. Some groups oppose the bill because it applies to officials who are uncompensated. The price the public pays for improper decisions is the same, no matter if the errant officials are highly compensated or working for free. Plus, the penalties apply to intentional violations, not to innocent mistakes.

Prior to my election to the Senate, I served as a township supervisor, so I know how the Sunshine Law works in practice, I respect the purpose of the law, and I understand why upgraded penalties are needed for the public interest and for public confidence. This is reform, legitimate, practical, and necessary. Senate approval now gives hope that significant reform can become law this Session. Thank you.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Chester, Senator Dinniman.

Senator DINNIMAN. Mr. President, would Senator Smucker submit to interrogation?

The PRESIDENT. He indicates he will.

Senator DINNIMAN. My key question is this: If I am a public official and I come to a meeting and I did not know that the meeting being held was to be secret, I mean, or the solicitor had told us to come because we were going to discuss real estate matters, and all of a sudden another issue came--I mean, I understand punishing the person who purposely tries to avoid Sunshine, and believe me, as a minority commissioner, I can well appreciate why Sunshine is important and necessary in my previous elected office. But how do we protect the innocent supervisor or the innocent school board member who just happens to be caught up in this and then ends up with a $1,000 fine?

Senator SMUCKER. Mr. President, the bill specifically states that the penalty applies to an intentional violation of the law. The first remedy always is to correct the actions that have been taken in violation.

Senator DINNIMAN. Mr. President, could the gentleman define the word "intentional" so we have it on the record, so that when cases come up in the courts, we understand what "intentional" means? Because I support the law, but I am just concerned about the innocent public official who gets caught in the middle.

Senator SMUCKER. Well, certainly, I suppose the word "intentional"--the bill does not specifically define the word "intentional." I suppose that could be done if that is not clear.

Senator DINNIMAN. Mr. President, as I say, I will vote for it, because I understand the spirit of it, but I do hope that when it gets to the House that we can clarify--that Senator Smucker would work with the House as well to clarify it, so that if I am guilty, I am punished. But as you well know, supervisors do not make very much, and school board members make nothing, and we do not want to scare people away from elected office. So I think such a definition would be very useful and helpful, and I trust the gentleman would agree with that.

Senator SMUCKER. Thank you. Yes, Mr. President. And I think we have similar goals to that regard, so I appreciate the gentleman's support and would be happy to work with other Members of the House to improve on that.

Senator DINNIMAN. Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Mellow.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, if we have a concern in this Chamber about intentional violation, which I certainly do, then why are we going to pass the bill, send it to the House of Representatives, and then have them decide what a definition would be, to potentially put in the bill, with regard to intentional violation? I can understand the reason that Senator Smucker has introduced the bill, and the intent of the legislation, and I think his intention is a sound intention. I just think the bill needs a little bit more work before we leave it in this body and send it over to the House of Representatives.

My concern is intentional violation, the definition of that might be a moving target. An intentional violation for one incident may not be the same as it is for another incident. Willful intent, Mr. President, would be, I think, something that would be of great concern also. The definitions in this bill, or the lack of a definition of intentional violation in this bill, concerns me very much. Furthermore, we are increasing the fine from $100 to up to $1,000. Mr. President, in this bill, this violation would be a summary offense. The Crimes Code uses a maximum of $300, today, for a summary offense. When this bill was passed in 1986, which is now 23 years ago, it was passed with the fine going up to $100. If you apply the inflation value to that particular proposal of 1986, you would increase that fine today to $195.

I would have no problem--I think it would probably be well-intended--if it was in the same position that the Crimes Code uses for a summary violation of $300. But a $1,000 potential fine for an individual or individuals, who in many cases do not get paid a nickel and potentially do not even know that there has been a violation of the Sunshine Law, I think, is very, very difficult to handle, with no definition for intentional violation, and how difficult it was just in this past primary election to get candidates to run for public office.

Local people do not want to run for a local municipal office, especially that of a school board that pays no money whatsoever. And then, furthermore, in the proposal, the way it is written, if four members participate in this violation, the four members can be fined up to $1,000 each, and then they have to pay that fine out of their own pockets. And if you are a member of a school board, you do not get paid to begin with, and if you are on a local municipal council, you might get paid a small amount of money on a per-month basis.

It is difficult today to get people to run for public office, and what you are doing, I believe, under the disguise of saying "reform of government," is making it more difficult by not having the proper type of definition of intentional violation. So I believe that your heart is in the right place with reform, but I am very concerned about what the lack of reform and the lack of definition in this bill will actually do.

And furthermore, to go ahead and abdicate our responsibilities here, or the responsibilities of those people who are sponsors of this legislation, and say, let the House take care of it, I believe, is a very, very inappropriate thing to do. And I hope that, Mr. President, perhaps we could get together and we could put the bill over for a day and try to come up with the proper type of definition for intentional violation, and then we all could support it, and we could feel very, very comfortable in accomplishing something that would be true reform with regard to this legislation.

So if it is at all possible, Mr. President, I would love to see, and I am not going to make it in the form of a motion, but if there is a way that we could go at ease and try to put the bill over for a day and come up with the proper type of definition for "intentional violation," I think that would be a positive step in the right direction. Thank you, Mr. President.

LEAVE CANCELLED

The PRESIDENT. Senator Wonderling has returned, and his personal leave is cancelled.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Pileggi.

Senator PILEGGI. Mr. President, I agree with many of the comments made by my friend, the Minority Leader. I would like to point out, though, a couple of items about Senate Bill No. 101. This identical bill was before this body last Session and passed this body on May 7 of 2007 by a vote of 48 to 0. The issue of intent is not changed in the bill as existing law. What the bill does, essentially, is give the judge and the court, after trial and conviction, the discretion to impose a higher fine. It does not mandate a minimum fine, rather raises the maximum so that a judge considering the facts before him or her has the discretion to tailor the fine to the violation.

Mr. President, I urge an affirmative vote on Senate Bill No. 101.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

NAY-1

Mellow

A constitutional majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Secretary of the Senate present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SB 105 (Pr. No. 1005) -- The Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment of a searchable budget database-driven Internet website detailing certain information concerning State expenditures.

Considered the third time and agreed to,
And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Costa.

Senator COSTA. Mr. President, let me begin my comments by saying that Senate Bill No. 105, while I think it is a measure that is well-intentioned with respect to further developing the notion of openness as it relates to our records and contracts, at this particular point in time, Mr. President, I am going to ask, and I intend to vote in the negative. Very specifically, Mr. President, what I want to share with the Members is some of the fiscal information as it relates to this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. President, our budget analysts and our Senate Committee on Appropriations have informed us, as well as the administration has informed us, that the costs for this fiscal year, for the implementation of this program for this new reporting requirement, the Taxpayer Transparency Act, is about $7.5 million for this particular year, and then has an ongoing cost of $1.5 million. Now, Mr. President, a lot of the information that is outlined and enumerated in Senate Bill No. 105 about what would be reported, what would be online, what would be available to this Internet-based program, is information, Mr. President, as I understand it, that is already currently accumulated and assembled and made for public viewing, available to the public, through the Department of Treasury.

As I understand it, pursuant to the Right-to-Know statute, all contracts entered into in excess of $5,000 are available online to the public. In addition, a lot of the information that is contained on that online viewing is very similar to what has been stated here on page 3 of the legislation: the name and principal address of the recipients of the funds; the funding source; the agency that is disbursing that would be part of that contract in most cases; as well, if it is a DCED contract, the description of the purpose and type of expenditure. A lot of this information is already available to the public.

In this particular budget season, Mr. President, where we learned today that we are now approximately $2.84 billion short in this year's revenue, we expect to have a cumulative deficit of over $7 billion in this General Fund as we go forward with the General Fund budget. My concern is that an expenditure of $7.5 million this year--which is to come out of each of the departments' outline, because there is really no funding stream or no funding source in the legislation; it simply lets it lie with the agency required to do this--that the costs absorbed by those agencies would not have been contemplated for as they went through the budget process and as we continue to go through the budget process.

In my opinion, this is something, I think, that may most appropriately be discussed and made part of the budget process that we are beginning to enter into. We have already started, but the real nuts and bolts of what we ultimately enact will be something that is hopefully done by June 30, if not shortly thereafter. But I rise today to vote against this. While I am not necessarily opposed to the concept of the further elaboration of the information available, but this particular year, with a price tag, in our estimation, from the Senate Democratic Appropriations Committee, of $7.5 million to implement this, I do not believe that it is an appropriate piece of legislation at this time, and I ask my colleagues to join me in voting against it.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Browne.

Senator BROWNE. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate Bill No. 105. In addressing the concerns of the gentleman from Allegheny County, the bill is something that is necessary, because in the expenditure of funds, particularly this year, in making some difficult choices, our constituents should be familiar with and have access to exactly who is receiving benefit from State government appropriations through executive branch agencies and how those dollars are performing. This is something that has been taken on by other States and has been applauded as something that adds transparency and accountability to our appropriation process here in the Commonwealth.

I am somewhat concerned about my colleague's statements regarding the prospective costs of the implementation of this Web portal and this service. Based on fiscal notes prepared by our Senate Committee on Appropriations, the upper-end costs of implementing this database for our constituents here in the Commonwealth is $150,000, and that is not something that has been generated without analysis of similar-type initiatives in other States. When you look at the fiscal notes and the costs associated with States that have already put this in place - some examples: Minnesota, $5,000; South Carolina, $20,000; Nebraska $38,000, Oklahoma, $40,000; the highest cost was the State of Texas with $310,000.

One of the best ways to determine what an initiative like this will cost will be to benchmark against similar initiatives in other States, and this will be similar to what they are doing, and the highest costs that we could project that would potentially come as a result of this is $310,000. The initial note that was put out by the Governor's Office of $7 million, in my opinion, based on analysis, is way overstated. It is something that comes out of--I am not sure what information is used to determine what that cost comes from. But given the transparency this would provide and the additional information that this will give to our constituents, the oversight that comes as a result of this, there is no doubt to me that the costs of putting together this initiative will be more than offset by the additional oversight that it provides to our constituents and their ability to hold us accountable in terms of what we are spending.

If there is information on this Web site that indicates money is being spent by the Commonwealth on something that is not performing, there will be a significant amount of additional scrutiny upon this General Assembly to cut that spending. And that has been the experience in other States as well, that with the additional oversight, the respective State governments have cut back on that spending that has been reported, therefore saving that additional money.

So with all due respect to my colleague from Allegheny County, I strongly disagree with his assessment on the benefit of this and the estimate as to the costs and strongly believe that it will be an excellent tool for Pennsylvania to continue our efforts to make State government more transparent and accountable.

Thank you very much.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Mellow.

Senator MELLOW. Mr. President, I think the debate on this issue has been rather informative, and I do not think that I could disagree more with some of the statements that were made with regard to the cost. Mr. President, if the administration says the cost is $7,500,000, and the Republican Committee on Appropriations in the Senate says the cost is $300,000-plus, the discrepancy is so great, Mr. President, somewhere between those two figures probably lies the actual amount of money that will be paid if, in fact, Senate Bill No. 105 is ever enacted.

Mr. President, it was May 6, not quite a month ago, that we passed, in this Chamber, Senate Bill No. 850. Senate Bill No. 850 was $900 million out of balance as it was presented to the Senate on that particular date. Now, there is no reason for us to rehash what took place in the debate of Senate Bill No. 850. But I know that Senator Browne has been around for a number of years. He is a highly educated individual who not only is a member of the bar but is also a certified public accountant. And he knows exactly what figures will state and what figures do not state, and I do not question whatsoever his ability to present the proper type of financial data to the Senate. But when you have two different financial bits of information, and they are so diametrically opposed to one another, then I do not think either one of them can be accurate. Probably, Mr. President, if you took the difference somewhere in between both of them, you are probably looking at an amount of money that I am sure exceeds $3 million, but we do not know that factually. And if you piggyback that onto a $900 million budget that was passed in this body--with the support, incidentally, of Senator Browne--just a month ago, we are now increasing the deficit and the cost to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania.

Now, Mr. President, if we did not have the proper Right-to-Know legislation that was put in place, and if the information that the gentleman is talking about was not readily available today online, then maybe we should be considering this particular proposal today, even though we know full well that if we pass it, it will go over to the House of Representatives, and it probably will not be considered. This is a proposal, Mr. President, that should be considered in the entire budgetary process. We should not be passing legislation right now, 1 month short of the deadline of the new budget, when we are facing approximately a $3.2 billion deficit, and spend more unchartered money of the Pennsylvania taxpayer. It is not the responsible thing to do as an elected official.

Now, I further realize that, you know, the minority will have its say, and the majority will have its way. So I am talking about this, and I realize full well that I will not change one vote on the other side of the aisle, and they will support Senator Browne, and perhaps that is what they should do as a Member of the Caucus. But I think we have to be very open, and we have to be very realistic, that somewhere between $7.5 million, as given to us by the Governor's Office of the Budget, and $300,000, as given to us by the Senate Republican Committee on Appropriations, lies the real truth about what this bill is going to cost. And when you are facing the type of deficit right now of $3.2 billion, a deficit of $900 million-plus in the budget that was passed here by the Senate less than a month ago, the least appropriate thing that we should be doing is spending more taxpayer money until we know exactly what the fiscal responsibilities will be come the end of the fiscal year of June 30.

So perhaps Senator Browne's bill is a good bill, but the timing to pass this bill is inappropriate until we know exactly what the final cost of this bill will be, and I ask, Mr. President, based on the fiscal responsibilities and the fiduciary responsibilities that each and every one of us have been elected to uphold, and the Constitution of Pennsylvania, where we must pass a balanced budget, I ask for a "no" vote on this proposal, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution and were as follows, viz:

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Smucker.

Senator SMUCKER. Mr. President, this reform bill puts into law the sort of accountability measure that taxpayers believe should be standard across State government. It details the information about the use of State aircraft that must be compiled and accessible. This will help insure that the use of a State plane is in line with what is legal, ethical, and fiscally responsible. This approach is based on recommendations that arose from an audit report by the State Auditor General. The bill reflects the public interest and deserves our support.

Thank you, Mr. President.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farnese.

Senator FARNESE. Mr. President, a few weeks ago on May 19, citizens across Pennsylvania exercised one of their most important, hard-fought rights that we have as Americans, and that is the right to vote. Pennsylvanians exercise that right regardless of their age, regardless of their religion, regardless of their race, and even, and even regardless of their sexual orientation.

On that same date, a Member of this very Chamber, Mr. President, a Member of this very Chamber planned and promised to introduce a constitutional amendment banning same-sex marriage. It is disappointing, to say the least, that at the same time so many in Pennsylvania were exercising one of our most cherished rights, we, yet again, will be faced with an attack on the freedom of an entire class of productive, law-abiding Pennsylvanians.

Pennsylvania, as you know, Mr. President, already defines marriage by statute. The General Assembly has twice, Mr. President, has twice sought to extend that definition to the State Constitution. And twice, that effort has failed. Constitutional amendments banning gay marriage have failed twice at the Federal level as well, and rightly so, because I cannot fathom why anyone would want to enshrine discrimination in a document that should, in every single respect, guarantee liberty to all. The proponents of this amendment would have us believe that it is done to protect our families and our children, yet half of all so-called traditional marriages fail, a higher failure rate than some European countries where same-sex registered partnerships have been around for more than a decade. Mr. President, you will also hear supporters of this amendment offer the slippery slope argument, saying that we must act to stop gay marriage, or next, we will have polygamy and pedophilia. Of course, no real evidence supports that stance.

Same-sex marriage or civil unions have been or soon will be legal in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Iowa, New Jersey, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine. Many municipalities around the country recognize domestic partnerships to allow gay couples to share in basic rights and benefits. Those States and communities have not collapsed into chaos or suffered a breakdown in social order, as the proponents of this discriminatory legislation will want you to believe. And there is no reason that we, as Pennsylvanians, need to take such drastic action to protect ourselves against taxpaying adult citizens who might ask their government to sanction their right to a lifelong monogamous relationship.

If anything, Mr. President, this effort only demonstrates that the potential for discrimination is all too real. All citizens in this State should have an equal opportunity to work and earn a living without regard to their sexual orientation. And Mr. President, this rightly underscores the need for legislation such as House Bill No. 300, which I urge, which I urge my colleagues in the House to quickly approve.

Last month, I voted against a budget put forth by my Republican colleagues because I believed it to be unthoughtful, coldhearted, and quite frankly, somewhat mean-spirited. The same could be said of this proposal to memorialize discrimination in the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is motivated out of fear, not by reason or compassion. And Mr. President, it is wrong. It is on the wrong side of history.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Senator John C. Rafferty, Jr.) in the Chair.
