

8/16/07

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter to inform you that my grandson, Luis Candelaria was attending a Day Care Center,

While at the day care my grandson was imprinted with a workers finger nails at that time I request a incident report and was never given one. When I tried to discuss it with the day care owner she stated that it must have been my grandson because he needed one on one care. That was the only excuse they could give me. And then she went on that the money they were being paid for my grandson was not enough to care for him ($180.50 plus a co-pay of $13.50) ~~The~~ owner of the Day Care had a complaint about Luis everyday. She complaint about the way he walked, did talk for his age, didn't eat what she feed him so she would not give him anything to eat or drink while being at the day care. There were times I pick up my grandson and he was so thirsty we would drink two bottles in the car while driving him back home. Another incident was when my grandson got bitten and she refused to give me an incident report. She comply ignored the situations stating my grandson provoked the other child. How can a two year old provoke any child? Who were watching over these children? Another incident was when CCIS sent a therapist to asset Luis' behavior due to all the day care's complaints and the worker called my daughter and request she remove Luis as soon as possible from the day care stating the workers were mean and not qualify to take care of the children there. Another incident was a day a fire drill occurred the children were held outside for about two hours in the hot sun. The children were crying and tired of being held in the sun for so long and the only confront they receive was the care providers telling that they had them fed up. I believe this day care should be investigated and especially ~~the provider~~ it appears she just wants the money and is forgetting about the children or maybe just certain children.

Respectfully,

Annette Morales

I am writing this letter to inform you that my grandson, Luis Candelaria was attending a Day Care Center. While at the day care my grandson was imprinted with a workers finger nails at the time I request a incident report and was never given one. When I tried to discuss it with the day care owner she stated that it must have been my grandson because he needed one on one care. That was the only excuse they could give me. And then she went on that the money they were being paid for my grandson was not enough to care for him ($180.50 plus a co-pay of $13.50). The owner of the Day Care had a complaint about what she feed him so she would not give him anything to eat of drink while being at the day care. There were times I pick up my grandson and he was so thirsty we would drink two bottles in the car while driving him back home. Another incident was when my grandson got bitten and she refused to give me an incident report. She comply ignored the situations stating my grandson provoked the other child. How can a two year old provoke any child? Who were watching over these children? Another incident was when CCIS sent a therapist to asset Luis' behavior due to all the day care's complaints and the worker called my daughter and request she remove Luis as soon as possible from the day care stating the workers were mean and not qualify to take care of the children there. Another incident was a day a fire drill occurred the children were held outside for about two hours in the hot sun. The children were crying and tired of being held in the sun for so long and the only confront they receive was the care providers telling that they had them fed up. I believe this day care should be investigated and especially the provider. It appears she just wants the money and is forgetting about the children or maybe just certain children.

Respectfully,

Annette Morales