Chairman Metcalfe, Ranking Member Cohen, members of the Committee, thank you for the invitation to testify today.

I am the President and General Counsel of the Public Interest Legal Foundation, a non-partisan charity devoted to promoting election integrity and preserving the constitutional decentralization of power so that states may administer their own elections. I have brought cases in federal court against the City of Philadelphia on behalf of the American Civil Rights Union. We believe the City of Philadelphia and perhaps other jurisdictions around Pennsylvania have failed to conduct adequate list maintenance in keeping voter rolls updated and accurate. I discuss these matters below and the attached report provides additional details.

I also served for five years as a career attorney in the Voting Section at the United States Department of Justice from 2005 through 2010. I have spent many long hours inside Pennsylvania polling locations monitoring elections. Those experiences have led me to believe that Pennsylvania is a place where every elected official should be completely intolerant of any criminal behavior touching on Pennsylvania elections.

I appear before you today because there are serious problems with Pennsylvania voter rolls that only this body may be able to fix. Simply, ineligible voters are routinely being kept on the list of ineligible voters and local election officials are not taking the situation seriously.

Only eligible citizens who are entitled to cast ballots on election day should appear on the voter registration rolls. Unfortunately, in Pennsylvania's largest jurisdiction, that has not been the case.

Congress has acknowledged how important clean and accurate voter rolls are and passed Section 8 of the National Voter Registration Act and parts of the Help America Vote Act to ensure that ineligible registrations are discovered and removed from the lists of eligible voters.

But some jurisdictions do nothing to prevent ineligible persons from registering or to discover and remove them. Philadelphia is among them.

Through litigation representing the American Civil Rights Union, the Public Interest Legal Foundation has unearthed evidence showing that many aliens have populated the voter rolls in Philadelphia. Dozens have voted in past elections.

Many of these ineligible aliens have been on the rolls for decades. The Public Interest Legal Foundation has completed a detailed report cataloging our findings examining the Philadelphia voter rolls and attached it to my submitted written testimony. Our report has records we obtained listing the names of alien registrants and the dates which they last voted in an election.

Please take careful note – when an alien votes in an election it is a felony. One would hope when election crimes are discovered that they be vigorously prosecuted by local and federal authorities. Failing to prosecute election crimes encourages more election crimes.

Moreover, as this State has learned over the last few years, failing to take election crimes seriously fosters a lawless culture across government where officials devoted time and resources to making excuses for lawless behavior rather than prosecuting election related crimes. The last time I appeared before this Committee, I testified about this danger, and unfortunately the situation only grew worse.

In our litigation against the City of Philadelphia, we discovered that aliens were registering to vote. Foreigners are not eligible to vote in Pennsylvania. Other states have adopted citizenship verification procedures to prevent this from happening. Unfortunately, some of these foreigners in Philadelphia also voted, as the records we obtained plainly show.

Many say voter fraud doesn't exist. Our report has the records to prove otherwise. Perhaps those voter fraud deniers are ok with a little bit of fraud. But how much is acceptable? Pennsylvania government officials can do something about the fraud we have discovered. If some officials resist a solution, one could reasonably conclude they find this level fraud to be acceptable.

Ultimately, the number of illegal votes doesn't matter when the integrity of the process is at stake. Nobody should tolerate voter fraud, whether it comes in bunches as we describe here, happens occasionally, or decides the outcome of an election. No excuses should be made for the lawless who taint the electoral process.

The problem we describe in our report certainly extends far beyond the City of Philadelphia, and far beyond just the aliens in Philadelphia who were caught by happenstance. Philadelphia just happens to be the lone place which we sued to obtain these records. The easiest thing this legislature can do is to seek from other local election officials the exact same documents which we obtained from Philadelphia – the list of aliens who were caught on the polls and their voting history. A phone call from Committee staff should suffice. If not, let us know so we may consider litigation against the election official to obtain the materials.

The list of aliens in Philadelphia we provide who registered to vote are just the ones we know about because they voluntarily asked to be removed from the rolls. The City, and as far as we know, the State, does nothing to actively prevent or discover noncitizen registration. For example, to our knowledge the State does not use the Federal SAVE (Systematic Alien Verification for Entitlements) database. This means lots more aliens are certainly still on Philadelphia voter rolls which have not been discovered.

Worse, the system is failing to respond to aliens participating illegally in our elections as law enforcement officials have not vigorously prosecuted this voter fraud. Make no mistake, when an alien registers to vote, it is voter fraud. It's also a federal felony.

If that wasn't bad enough, PILF also discovered that incarcerated felons are not removed from the rolls in Philadelphia. Felons are ineligible to vote in Pennsylvania while they are incarcerated or in half-way houses. City election officials do are not taking any steps whatsoever regarding these convicted felons, such as placing them on inactive status or notating their records. Indeed, they seem surprised our organization even cared. It is important to note that City election officials were adamant that they need to pay any attention to ineligible felons and made these arguments both to representatives of PILF's client – the American Civil Rights Union – as well as in court papers.

When election officials don't care about ineligible voters on the rolls, who will?

Unfortunately, the United States District Court agreed that even if thousands of ineligible felons are on the list of eligible voters in Philadelphia, that federal list maintenance obligations are not implicated. That does not mean state obligations cannot fix the problem. That court decision will be appealed, but in the meantime, this body can do something about the fact that Pennsylvania voter rolls contain the names of thousands of convicted and incarcerated felons who will not be eligible to cast any type of ballot in November.

Aliens and ineligible felons being on the list of eligible voters must not be permitted to persist. Clean rolls are the most important ingredient for clean elections. If Pennsylvania voter rolls merely noted that the registrant was a recently convicted felon, election officials could take extra care to ensure that that person does not cast an illegal ballot. Absentee ballots move to prisons all the time, and plenty of felons are in half-way houses with relative freedom to cast a regular ballot.

The attached report catalogues and highlights our findings about problems of ineligible registrants in the City of Philadelphia from the list maintenance documents we obtained through National Voter Registration Act records requests. Most certainly, the problem is not confined to the City of Philadelphia.

Thank you for the opportunity to appear.

ALIENS & FELONS

Thousands on the Voter Rolls in Philadelphia

A voter fraud catalog by the Public Interest
Legal Foundation

Summary

- Dozens of aliens have voted in past elections in Philadelphia, and that's just the tip of the iceberg. Most aliens get registered through Motor Voter.
- Election officials in Philadelphia take no proactive steps to prevent or remove alien registration.
- Thousands of ineligible felons are on the rolls in Philadelphia and the election officials do nothing about it and don't even think it's a problem.
- Something has to be done because clean rolls are essential for clean elections.

Systemic Failure in Philadelphia

Only eligible citizens who are entitled to cast ballots on election day should appear on the voter registration rolls. Unfortunately, in Pennsylvania's largest jurisdiction, that has not been the case. Congress has acknowledged how important clean and accurate voter rolls are and passed Section 8 of the National Voter Registration Act and parts of the Help America Vote Act to ensure that ineligible registrations are discovered and removed from the lists of eligible voters.

But some jurisdictions do nothing to prevent ineligible persons from registering or to discover and remove them. Philadelphia is among them.

Through litigation representing the American Civil Rights Union, the Public Interest Legal Foundation has unearthed evidence showing that many aliens have populated the voter rolls in Philadelphia. Dozens have voted in past elections. Many of these ineligible aliens have been on the rolls for decades.

These are just the ones we know about because they voluntarily asked to be removed from the rolls. The City does nothing to actively prevent or discover noncitizen registration. Worse, the system is failing to respond to aliens participating illegally in our elections as law enforcement officials have not vigorously prosecuted this voter fraud. Make no mistake, when an alien registers to vote, it is voter fraud. It's also a federal felony.

If that wasn't bad enough, PILF also discovered that incarcerated felons are not removed from the rolls in Philadelphia. Felons are ineligible to vote in Pennsylvania while they are incarcerated or in half-way houses. But City election officials are not taking any steps whatsoever regarding these convicted felons. City election officials were adamant that they do not need to pay any attention to ineligible felons and made these arguments both to representatives of PILF's client—the American Civil Rights Union—as well as in court papers.

When election officials don't care about ineligible voters on the rolls, who will?

Aliens and ineligible felons being on the list of eligible voters must not be permitted to persist. Clean rolls are the most important ingredient for clean elections.

This report catalogues and highlights our findings about problems of ineligible registrants in the City of Philadelphia from the list maintenance documents we obtained through National Voter Registration Act records requests. Most certainly, the problem is not confined to the City of Philadelphia.

ALIENS ON PHILADELPHIA VOTER ROLLS

The Foundation submitted public records requests to the Philadelphia City Commissioners prior to filing suit on behalf of the American Civil Rights Union. Once litigation commenced, the City of Philadelphia began to allow inspection of their voter list maintenance records. The Voter Registration Office provided a list of registrations that had been cancelled in 2013, 2014, and 2015 because the registrants were aliens.

Some of the cancelled aliens had voted in past elections. Digging deeper, we requested all records of the initial registrations for the registrants, as well as the notice that was received that triggered the removal. The results illustrate that there are serious problems with noncitizen registration and with the lack of procedures for removal of noncitizens from the rolls.

Over the years 2013-15, 86 registrations were cancelled because the registrant was not a U.S. citizen.

Of these registrants, 40 aliens from Philadelphia had voted in at least one election.

Registering to vote while ineligible is a felony. Non-citizen voting is a separate felony. Remember, the circumstances described below are only the alien registrants who were discovered by happenstance or self-reporting. The lists below most certainly do not catalog anything more than a fraction of the problem. Aliens self-reporting their illegal status on the voter rolls will be the exception, not the norm.

Removals in 2015

- 23 registrations cancelled on the basis that the registrant was an alien.
- 7 (30%) had voted in past elections.
- 3 (13%) had been on the rolls for over 10 years.

We were able to obtain some of the original registrations that were submitted by the non-citizen registrants who were removed in 2015. These were submitted on paper forms.

- In one case, the person checked the box that they were not a citizen, but then proceeded to complete the rest of the application even though the instructions say not to complete the form if “no” is checked.

- In the other instances, the registrants clearly checked the box “yes” attesting that they were U.S. citizens. These examples were registered in 2008-09 and were not removed until election officials received a writing from the registrants asking to be removed.

The registrations were only cancelled because election officials received some kind of writing from the registrants asking to be removed. Election officials indicated that they can only speculate as to what prompts the alien notices.

It does not take great imagination to see that these self-reported removals must constitute only a small fraction of the non-citizens who must still be registered. Election officials do nothing to follow up on the registrations, even though in some cases the person had checked "no" and then scratched it out and put "yes" in the check-box area. To make matters worse, if someone leaves the citizen check-box question blank, we were informed that the person is still registered to vote in Philadelphia.

City election officials did not have the initial registration forms for the majority of the registrants because they took place at license branches. When that happens, the information is entered directly into the statewide voter registration system and the election officials do not get the information from the registration form. Thus, there is no way for election officials to know whether the person checked "yes" or "no" in the citizenship verification checkbox. The presumption is that if the person fills out the form they are entered into the system as a valid active voter.

Removals in 2014

- 30 registrations cancelled on the basis that the registrant was an alien.
- 18 (60%) had voted in past elections.
- 8 (27%) had been on the rolls for at least 10 years.
- 1 person had initially registered in 1994 and most recently voted in November 2013.
- 1 person had initially registered in 1998 and most recently voted in November 2012.

For the cancellations based on non-citizenship during 2014 we asked for original voter registration forms to see if the alien lied and said that they were a citizen in the citizenship check-box portion of the form. Election officials were not able to provide any original registrations because they were not on file. They would tell us nothing more than that, so we do not know whether the registrations were destroyed or whether they were all originally processed by the Department of Transportation, in which case Philadelphia would not receive the original registrations at all.

We were able to obtain copies of the letters and notices that prompted the removals, however. These reveal three different kinds of writings that prompted the cancellations:

(A) 16 of the 30 cancellations were prompted by a standard form titled "Request Cancellation of Registration." It appears that this is a form produced by the Pennsylvania Department of State or the Voter Registration Office itself. In every instance, the form was clearly filled out by a different person than the person who signed the signature line. In every instance, the person filling out the form appears to be the same person filling out multiple forms from the handwriting. As a result, we do not know what really prompted these cancellations or what the circumstances were when the form was filled out. The signature line appears to be by the registrant themselves.

- Of these 16 alien registrants cancelled through the form method, 13 had voted illegally in elections in the past.

(B) 7 of the 30 cancellations were prompted by a letter from the registrant or a representative of the registrant. In most instances this is simply typewritten or handwritten note. Two of the letters were from a legal representative who was helping the person with immigration matters.

- Of these 7 cancellations, 4 had voted illegally in the past.

(C) 2 of the 30 cancellations were prompted by returned voter registration cards on which the registrant had written that they should be removed. Neither of them had voted.

- In one instance where a registrant returned a voter registration card and requested removal, the person claims to have made the request repeatedly for the past 5 years without being removed, starting the year after he was registered. He kept receiving cards year after year. The person never voted.

Removals in 2013

- 33 cancellations on the basis that the registrant was an alien.
- 15 (45%) had voted in past elections.
- 6 (18%) had been on the rolls for at least 10 years.
- 1 registrant had been registered since 2001 and had most recently voted in the November 2006 election.

We were able to obtain similar information for the 2013 cancellations as for those in 2014. Once again, the election officials had no original voter registration information on file. They did, however, provide the cancellation requests.

(A) 19 of the 33 cancellations were prompted by the standard “Request Cancellation of Registration” form. Again, for each example the form itself is filled out by the same person in each instance, with only the signature line being unique.

- In 12 of these 19 instances, the registrant had voted in past elections.

(B) 5 of the 33 cancellations were prompted by a letter from the registrant or a representative of the registrant. In most instances this is simply typewritten or handwritten note.

- In one instance, the registrant relates that they were given the form to fill out at a license branch but didn't understand what they were filling out as English is not their first language. The person never voted.
- In two other instances, the registrant stated that they have never registered to vote and have no idea how they came to be registered.

I'm requesting to be completely removed from your voters registrant system. I have NEVER voluntarily registered to vote, and unsure how this registration could take place without my permission. I am not a citizen.

(C) 3 of the 33 cancellations were prompted by returned voter registration cards on which the registrant had written that they should be removed.

Summary of Findings

There are several important points to take away from the results of our review of the documents we obtained under NVRA with regard to the cancellation of noncitizen registrants and voters.

- (1) A person who knowingly and willingly registers to vote while ineligible to do so commits a felony. This to say nothing of the felon of voting in a federal election while not being a citizen. Philadelphia does not report any of the above information to law enforcement. Those who committed felonies as outlined by this report should be prosecuted by the District Attorney, State Attorney General, or United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Prosecuting voter fraud is the best way to deter voter fraud.
- (2) It is clear that nothing proactive is being done to identify noncitizens on the rolls in Philadelphia. Registrants are only removed when a self-reporting notice is received. The election officials could only speculate as to what prompts registrants to send a notice, though it may be an immigration attorney telling an alien that they might endanger their citizenship applications if they were registered to vote illegally. In light of this, there is more than likely far more registered noncitizens on the rolls than those who take the initiative to ask to be removed, particularly among aliens registered who are not in the mainstream immigration process.
- (3) From the letters received, it is clear that some registrants ask to be removed once they become aware that they were erroneously registered, probably as a result of receiving a voter registration card. In a couple instances each year someone returns the voter registration card and asks to be removed.
- (4) From the letters received, it is clear that the checkbox system on the registration forms is a failure. Sometimes people are registered even when they check "no". There is no verification for those who check "yes" even though they are not citizens. States should bolster citizenship verification efforts and Congress should reexamine the citizen check-box.

- (5) The vast majority of the noncitizens who ended up on the rolls registered through license branches under Section 7 of the National Voter Registration Act of 1993, popularly known as “Motor Voter”. Our research reveals that this system is fraught with error and provides no filter at all to prevent noncitizens from registering to vote. In several instances, the person did not even realize that they were registering to vote. Clearly better instruction needs to be given to license branch employees to make sure that people understand that filling out the registration form is optional and that the form should only be used if the person is eligible to vote.

What can be done?

- (1) Provide additional and clear instructions at license branches concerning eligibility to vote. Section 7 only says that registration must be offered. It should be made clear that registration is not required as part of obtaining a license and that the form should be filled out only if the person is eligible.
- (2) Proactive measures should be taken to identify noncitizens on the rolls. Those who voluntarily ask to be removed are probably just the tip of the iceberg.
 - One option is for county clerks to provide copies of jury declination forms on which the person has declared that they are not a citizen.
 - Another option used in other states is to check for noncitizens using the Federal Systematic Alien Verification for Entitlements (SAVE) database.
- (3) Require that the information regarding noncitizens who actually have voted is forwarded to the appropriate law enforcement agency for full and vigorous prosecution. When aliens register to vote, they commit multiple federal felonies.¹ When they vote in a federal election, it is an additional federal felony. The United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania must prosecute aliens who committed federal felonies by registering or voting. If law enforcement does not act on this information, it will encourage the lawlessness.

¹ When a fraudulent voter registers and votes he commits several felonies:

- Title 18, United States Code § 611: Criminalizes voting by illegal aliens in federal elections.
- Title 18, United States Code § 911: Criminalizes representing oneself to be a citizen of the United States.
- Title 18, United States Code § 1015: Criminalizes false statements in order to register to vote or to vote in any Federal, State, or local election.
- Title 52, United States Code § 20511: Criminalizes the fraudulent submission of voter registration applications and the fraudulent casting of ballots.

INELIGIBLE FELONS ON THE ROLLS

During the public inspection meetings with the Philadelphia Voter Registration Office, we discovered that incarcerated felons are not removed from the lists of eligible voters even though they are ineligible to vote while incarcerated or in a half-way house. These incarcerated felon registrations are not placed on the inactive list either. In fact, city election officials have absolutely no information on whether a registrant has been incarcerated for a felony. City of Philadelphia election officials behave as if Pennsylvania law prohibiting certain felons from voting doesn't even exist. This is rank lawlessness.

Under Pennsylvania law, incarcerated felons are not eligible to receive absentee ballots. They are disenfranchised. Incarcerated non-felons, however, may vote by absentee ballot and thus a ballot that arrives by mail at a prison (or is sent through a third party) is not necessarily a ballot sent to an ineligible voter. But the voter registration office in Philadelphia has absolutely no way of knowing whether an absentee ballot request received from a penal institution is from a felon or a non-felon. City election officials simply devote no attention to the matter by their own admissions to us.

- In other words, the City of Philadelphia does exactly nothing to ensure that incarcerated felons don't vote. They don't even know who was convicted for felonies in Philadelphia. They do absolutely nothing to catalog ineligible felon voters or make any notations to the lists of eligible voters because of ineligibility status.
- The Pennsylvania Department of Corrections reports that the prison population was 49,914 in 2015. With Philadelphia being the largest source by far, that means that potentially thousands of ineligible criminals may be on the lists of eligible voters—and election officials don't care.

City election officials expressed surprise that anyone would think this is a problem. They argued that since a felon can vote immediately upon release, they keep them on the rolls without making any notations on the records. They don't even get (or ask for) the list of felony convictions from Philadelphia courts. The United States Attorney is required by federal law to also give the list of convictions to city election officials. If that happens, it must be discarded or ignored because election officials said they do nothing regarding criminal convictions.

Felons in Pennsylvania are also not permitted to register to vote while incarcerated. They can register and vote immediately upon release, however.

So what is the problem with having ineligible felons on the voter rolls?

Keeping ineligible felons on Philadelphia lists of eligible voters conflicts with the plain language of the National Voter Registration Act and the Help America Vote Act. These federal laws contain provisions requiring jurisdictions to actively maintain accurate and current rolls:

- They specifically require a reasonable effort to remove those who become ineligible under state law by reason of a criminal conviction. 52 U.S.C. § 20507(a)(3)(B).

- And they require the appropriate officials to coordinate the voter lists with felony status records for purposes of “removing names of ineligible voters from the official list of eligible voters.” 52 U.S.C. § 21083(a)(2)(A)(ii).

The bottom line is that federal law requires voter list maintenance “that makes a reasonable effort to remove registrants who are ineligible to vote from the official list of eligible voters.” 52 U.S.C. § 21083(a)(4)(A). If state law disenfranchises a person when they are incarcerated, then federal law requires their registrations to be cancelled.

What happens in other states?

After HAVA came into effect, several states updated their statutes to enforce these clear mandates regarding the removal of ineligible voters. For example, just as in Pennsylvania, a criminal is disenfranchised in Indiana while they are incarcerated. They may vote when they get out. Indiana updated its voter registration maintenance statute in 2014 to reflect the requirement that the registrations of those who become incarcerated must be cancelled on an expedited basis. Ind. Code § 3-7-46 et seq.

The new Indiana section expressly states that these procedures are required by the NVRA and HAVA.

Pennsylvania should enact legislation that mirrors Indiana’s and thereby come into great compliance with federal requirements that rolls be kept clean.

What can be done?

Election officials should get and use the list of ineligible felons and make notations to the list of eligible voters reflecting this information. Failing to do so is not reasonable list maintenance. State agencies with incarceration data should cooperate with local election officials to this end.

Election officials should retroactively compare felony incarceration data with voter history and make appropriate referrals to law enforcement officials if an ineligible felon voted in an election.

Every Pennsylvania election official should ask the United States Attorney to timely provide lists of felony convictions as federal law requires.
