

Testimony of C. James Fox, Chairman
Pennsylvania Parole Board
House Judiciary Committee
May 30, 2024

Good Afternoon, Chairman Briggs, Chairman Kauffman and members of the House Judiciary Committee. My name is Jim Fox and I am the Chairman of the Pennsylvania Parole Board. I am pleased to provide comment today on behalf of the Shapiro Administration discussing House Bill 2296, felony murder reform, sponsored by Chairman Briggs and others on the committee and in the House.

My testimony today is as Board Chairman with over 35 years working in the criminal justice system in Pennsylvania in local, state, and federal government positions. My opinion does not speak for the entire Parole Board as there may be varying opinions among Board Members. Be assured that regardless of individual opinions, the entire Board understands its role in adhering to any legislation that is enacted. On a personal level, I am not opposed to reform that considers victims of crime, imposes a punishment proportional to the crime, and makes the system fairer and more balanced in the imposition of sentences for second-degree murder.

Sentencing judges are in the position to analyze both the facts of a case and the circumstances of an offender to determine whether a life sentence is appropriate. Although life without parole might be appropriate in some cases, mandatory life sentences for all second-degree murder is sufficiently inconsistent with the purposes of punishment such that it rises to the level of cruel punishment. Right now, a person in this Commonwealth can be found guilty of second-degree murder and be sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole even without committing, intending to commit, or having knowledge of the murder that was committed.

The Pennsylvania Parole Board Can Decide the Appropriateness of Parole for Second Degree Murderers

A sentence of life in prison with the possibility of parole presents only that—the possibility of parole. Just as some crimes may warrant imposing a sentence of life without parole, not all individuals who are eligible for parole will be granted parole. The Parole Board is experienced, qualified, and capable of deciding who should be paroled and who should not. In deciding whether parole is appropriate, the Parole Board applies the statutory criteria set forth in § 6135 of the Prisons and Parole Code, which requires it to consider:

- (1) The nature and circumstances of the offense committed.
- (2) Any recommendations made by the trial judge and prosecuting attorney.
- (3) The general character and background of the inmate.
- (4) Participation by an inmate sentenced after February 19, 1999, and who is serving a sentence for a crime of violence as defined in 42 Pa.C.S. § 9714(g) (relating to sentences for second and subsequent offenses) in a victim impact education program offered by the Department of Corrections.

(5) The written or personal statement of the testimony of the victim or the victim's family submitted under section 6140 (relating to victim statements, testimony and participation in hearing).

(6) The notes of testimony of the sentencing hearing, if any, together with such additional information regarding the nature and circumstances of the offense committed for which sentence was imposed as may be available.

(7) The conduct of the person while in prison and his physical, mental, and behavioral condition and history, his history of family violence and his complete criminal record.

The Parole Board considers parole guidelines developed by the Pennsylvania Commission on Sentencing, actuarial risk tools and conducts interviews of all parole eligible inmates. Public safety is a prime consideration and simply being parole eligible is not a guarantee of parole. Just as it does with other individuals who have committed violent crimes, the Parole Board would apply the same set of rigorous set standards deciding whether an offender convicted of second-degree murder might be an appropriate candidate for parole after decades of confinement. These decisions would arise in the normal course, and they would not impose any meaningful extra burden. Additionally, the Board already makes similar decisions in cases involving commuted life sentences, and juvenile life sentences resentenced after the Miller decision, in which the United States Supreme Court held that it was unconstitutional to sentence a juvenile to a mandatory life sentence without the possibility of parole.

According to its internal records, the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections currently houses 1,042 inmates serving life sentences after a second-degree murder conviction. Depending on what is decided on the retroactivity application of this bill, the Parole Board pledges to consider all those applicable for parole under current law or a new law.

As you are all aware, Governor Shapiro has asked the legislature to address these very issues. I applaud the House Judiciary Committee for taking up this issue and I'm hopeful that this will be the start of a thoughtful and dignified effort to address this pressing issue.

Thank you for the opportunity to submit this testimony. I am hopeful that this addresses the role that the Parole Board plays in this process.
